Using LMI in Your States to Improve Employment Outcomes

Rebecca Rust | BLS Assistant Commissioner for Occupational Statistics and Employment Projections (formerly FL LMI Chief)

- How are you able to use LMI in your states to improve employment outcomes (bring examples).
- What role do third-party LMI products play in your state's efforts to improve employment outcomes? How well do they align with state and federal LMI data? What additional perspective do they provide?
- What challenges have you faced? (some examples: organizational or cultural challenges, challenges with data relevance, data construct challenges, USDOL expectations).

11:30 – 12:00

Review of Key Learnings

Break-out groups with facilitated discussion on the key learnings of the 10:15 session:

- What are the limitations in how states currently use LMI to improve employment outcomes?
- In an ideal world, how would states use LMI to improve employment outcomes?
- What is possible for states to accomplish now?
- What are the long-term goals/opportunities for states and how do we address challenges?
